STATE OF NEVADA
EXECUTIVE CHAMBER
Carson City, Nevada 89710

BOB MILLER
Governor

August 21, 1995

To the People of Nevada:

Agriculture is one of Nevada's primary industries, contributing greatly to the economies of our rural communities and the character of our state as a whole. Nevada farmers and ranchers are among the most independent and rugged of individuals, working some of the roughest country to be found — Nevada's high desert. Several years of drought are apparently behind us, as the tremendous precipitation received during the winter and spring of '94 - '95 has replenished soil moisture and irrigation water supplies. The outlook for Nevada agriculture production is therefore much improved and our farmers and ranchers deserve some better years.

As consumers, Nevadans enjoy plentiful, low cost food thanks to the productivity and efficiency of United States farmers and ranchers. In these turbulent economic and political times, it is imperative that law makers not lose sight of the irreplaceable contributions of our farmers and ranchers to the well-being of all of us. The preparation of statistics on Nevada agriculture is supported by this office, as accurate, timely information is vital to good government decision making.

Sincerely,

To Friends of Agriculture:

Nevada farmers and ranchers have faced difficult times in recent years with drought, fluctuating market prices, grazing issues, and untold challenges of farming and ranching lending uncertainty to the industry. The preparation of agricultural statistics is supported by the Nevada Division of Agriculture because they provide the means to monitor what is happening in our industry. Agricultural statistics give us reference for decision making and help us monitor the effects of past decisions and events. It is hoped that those in farming or ranching and associated agribusinesses, may benefit from these efforts.

The Nevada Division of Agriculture continues to work toward the preservation of existing agriculture and encouragement of new enterprises. As shown in these statistics, we are succeeding in several areas. Working together we may see continued growth in Nevada agriculture in the coming years.

What are the current trends in Nevada agriculture? Are there more or fewer livestock? Are farm incomes rising or falling? How much hay is grown in Nevada? These types of questions and myriad others are effectively addressed in Nevada Agricultural Statistics 1994-95. Statistics on agriculture provide vital information for production, policy, and management decision making. Compilation of these statistics is provided through the cooperation of Nevada Division of Agriculture and University of Nevada-Reno College of Agriculture with National Agricultural Statistics Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Most of the data that go into the preparation of these agricultural statistics come directly from those who know Nevada agriculture best...Nevada farm and ranch operators. The reliability of these statistics is dependent on the voluntary cooperation of farm and ranch operators, and the vast majority of Nevada's operators cooperate fully. Thank you, Nevada farmers and ranchers, for your cooperation in this worthwhile endeavor.

On behalf of the staff of Nevada Agricultural Statistics Service, it is my pleasure to present the 28th edition of this bulletin. Questions regarding any of these statistics or requests for additional information will be welcomed by our office; we are here to serve agriculture.

1994 CROP/WEATHER SUMMARY

JANUARY

Temperatures ranged above normal with only traces of precipitation. Mild weather favored calving and lambing, but lack of precipitation was a concern.

FEBRUARY

Some precipitation was received which greatly improved the irrigation water outlook. Temperatures were below normal most of the month. Fieldwork was underway in the south. Calving and lambing continued.

MARCH

Some precipitation in northwest mid-month. Temperatures generally above normal with some records broken. Spring field work in progress central and southern areas. Irrigation water supplies a major concern. Calving and lambing aided by mild weather.

APRIL

Some isolated thundershowers with only light precipitation. Temperatures continued above normal. Some oats and barley planted, winter wheat greening, first cutting of alfalfa hay underway extreme south. Many areas expected less than half of normal allocation for irrigation with surface water. Calving 75% complete. Livestock movement to summer pastures getting underway.

MAY

Some precipitation received in the north and central areas. A tornado touched down 16 miles south of Battle Mt. with no damage mid-May. Crop conditions were mostly good, but surface irrigation water supplies short. First cutting alfalfa central areas, second cutting underway extreme south. Livestock movement to summer ranges continued. Calving, lambing and shearing nearly complete.

JUNE

Weather mostly windy with some widely spread thunderstorms. Temperatures ranged slightly above normal. Range and pasture conditions were slightly above normal. Alfalfa hay harvest continued, third cutting extreme south. Barley and oats harvest nearly complete south. Potato crop growing well. Stock water supplies 95% adequate.

JULY

Clear, dry weather prevailed with a few thunderstorms at the end of the month. Second cutting of alfalfa continued. Small grain harvest advanced northward. Pasture and range conditions declined as drought intensified. Some livestock moved from summer range due to lack of water.

AUGUST

Weather remained mostly dry with above normal temperatures. A number of fires raged, including the Moore Fire north of Winnemucca (23,000 acres), the Crystal Peak-Verdi Fire west of Reno (7,300 acres), and the Woodhills Fire south of Wells (4,00 acres). Small grain harvest continued North. Second and third cuttings of alfalfa north and central areas. Harvest of garlic for seed completed. Onion digging active. Range, pasture conditions poor to very poor.

SEPTEMBER

Mostly cooler weather with some moisture. Snow fell in some mountain ranges mid-month. Small grain harvest complete. Alfalfa harvest continued. Other hay harvest virtually complete. Onion digging continued. Livestock moving to fall pasture and market. Stock water supplies short.

OCTOBER

Cooler weather patterns with measurable precipitation mid-month. Hay cutting and onion harvest winding down. Potato harvest continued. Seeding of fall-planted small grains underway. Continued movement of livestock to fall pastures or market.

NOVEMBER

Cold, wet weather predominated with snow falling throughout the state. Temperature extremes ranged from 73 degrees to -21 degrees. Most field work came to a halt. Main farm, ranch activities included marketing, feeding and moving livestock; grading, sorting and marketing crops.

DECEMBER

Mostly cool temperatures, slightly below normal with light precipitation. Snow cover intensified livestock feeding requirements in North. Low livestock prices encouraged producers to hold stock. Fall seeded crops safe from freeze damage.

FARM LABOR

During the four survey periods between July 1994 and April 1995 the peak number of farm workers occurred in July when there was a total of 66,000 workers on farms and ranches in the Mountain II Region, which consists of Colorado, Nevada and Utah. The total hours worked by self-employed workers and hired workers was at the highest level during July.

Wage rates were generally higher during the January and October survey periods. The average wage rate for all hired workers, regardless of method of pay or type of workers, was highest in January at $6.67 per hour. Workers paid on an hourly basis earned their highest wages during January when the average rate was $6.55 per hour. Both field and livestock workers received the highest nonsupervisory wage during the January survey period.

1994 PESTICIDE AND HERBICIDE APPLICATION SUMMARY

This summary was compiled from information contained in mandatory monthly reports submitted by the 1994 Custom Applicator licensees. Its accuracy is based on these monthly reports, and the data therein does not constitute approval or recommendations by the Nevada State Department of Agriculture or the Nevada Agricultural Statistics Service. This is not a complete summary in that it only contains the chemicals applied by custom applicators. It does not include chemical applications by individual farmers and ranchers who may apply chemicals on their own operations.
